

Autorzy / Authors

Łukasz Albański is an assistant professor at the Pedagogical University of Krakow. He is an author of Społeczno-pedagogiczne i kulturowe konteksty migracji dzieci: między globalnym wykluczeniem a walką o godność (2020) and Adopcja międzyrasowa: refleksje nad pokrewieństwem, rasą i przynależnością (2018).

Małgorzata Budyta-Budzyńska – professor at Collegium Civitas, sociologist and political scientist, specialist in sociology of migration and national policy related to national minorities in Central and Eastern Europe, author of many articles and books on topics of external and internal migration and national issues, among them Polacy na Islandii. Rekonstrukcja przestrzeni obecności (Poles in Iceland: Reconstructing the Space of Presence, 2016), Integration or Assimilation? Polish Immigrants in Iceland (editor and author, 2011), Socjologia narodu i konfliktów etnicznych (Sociology of the Nation and Ethnic Conflicts, 2010), Mniejszości narodowe – bogactwo czy problem? Instytucjonalizacja mniejszości narodowych po 1989 roku (National Minorities, an Asset or a Problem? The Institutionalization of National Minorities Following 1989, 2003).

Anna Fiń, Sociologist, Assistant Professor at the The Department of Sociology of Culture Pedagogical University in Krakow, Poland. She specializes in the sociology of migration, urban sociology and the research of sector of culture and arts. In her scientific work, she mainly deals with the problems of: contemporary transatlantic migration; contemporary emigration from Poland to the USA; relations between immigrant groups, processes of creating and transforming immigrant districts as well as, recently migration photography: its development and significance for studying migration processes.

Magdalena Gąsior – graduated in political science (PhD) and cultural studies, migrations and ethnicity studies (MA). A student of a doctoral programme in cultural studies at the Faculty of International and Political Studies at Jagiellonian University.

Marcin Gońda, PhD, is an Assistant Professor at the Faculty of Economics and Sociology, University of Lodz. He is a Head of Centre of Migration Studies, University of Lodz. He also cooperates with the Centre for Migration Research, University of Warsaw. His research interests cover return migration and diaspora policies, educational migration, internationalisation of higher education, migration in the Central and Eastern Europe and the post-Soviet area, transformation of migration policies of EU member states and implementation of qualitative research methods (including biographical approach) in migration studies.

Anna D. Jaroszyńska-Kirchmann is Distinguished Professor of History and the CSU Professor in the Department of History at Eastern Connecticut State University in Willimantic, CT. She received her MA in history from the Marie Curie Skłodowska University in Lublin, Poland, and her Ph.D. from the University of Minnesota. She published The Exile Mission: Polish Political Diaspora and Polish Americans, 1939–1956 (Ohio University Press, 2004); Letters from Readers in the Polish American Press, 1902–1969: A Corner for Everybody (Lexington Books, 2014); The Polish Hearst: Ameryka-Echo and the Public Role of the Immigrant Press (University of Illinois Press, 2015), as well as numerous articles on various aspects of the Polish American experience. Kirchmann is past president of the Polish American Historical Association, and serves as Editor-in-Chief of the journal Polish American Studies

Agata Kochaniewicz, PhD candidate at the Department of Social Anthropology at Norwegian University of Science and Technology (NTNU), Trondheim. Member of the group Temporalities of Mobility and Migration (NTNU). Her main anthropological interests are mobility studies, migration, engaged anthropology, feminist studies. She is also a member of The Centre for Migration Studies at Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań.

Aneta Kostrzewa holds a PhD in Sociology from the City University of New York Graduate Center with specialization in urban sociology and ethnic communities. Her research interests revolve around the themes of social inequality and urban identity formation in the era of global urban competition and specifically the impact of urban change on immigrant communities in large cities. She currently teaches undergraduate sociology courses at CUNY York College in Queens, NY.

Małgorzata Krywult-Albańska is an assistant professor at the Institute of Philosophy and Sociology, Paedagogical University of Cracow. Her research interests include population studies with a focus on migrations and social consequences of climate change.

Monika Machowska, B.A. in Cultural Studies, specialty Russian and East European Studies, M.A. in American Studies, specialty North America, M.A. in International Migrations at Jagiellonian University in Cracow, Poland. Since 2018 PhD student at the Institute of Intercultural Studies at Jagiellonian University, focusing on American Studies, ethnicity, and migrations. Her professional interests are placed between political anthropology, cultural studies, memory and heritage. Currently working on social and cultural aspects of American homelessness phenomenon and history of Armenian migration to North America.

Urszula Markowska-Manista is a field researcher in education in culturally diversified environments and indigenous childhood and youth studies concerning children's rights. Since 2016, she has been the director of and lecturer at the MA Childhood Studies and Children's Rights MACR (FU Berlin; FH Potsdam together with prof. S.Thomas) and is assistant professor at the University of Warsaw, Poland. She was acting chairholder of the UNESCO Janusz Korczak Chair at the M. Grzegorzewska University in Warsaw (2017–2018) and has conducted extensive field research in Central Africa, the South Caucasus and Central Europe (national and ethnic minorities in Poland, educational migrants from Ukraine). She is an author of numerous articles, chapters in books and books in Polish, English and German. Her latest publications are: Budde R. & Markowska-Manista U. (Eds). (2020): Childhood Studies and Children's Rights Between Research and Activism. Honouring the Work of Manfred Liebel, Springer, DOI 10.1007/978-3-658-29180-8; Jawor A., Markowska-Manista U., Pietrusińska J. M., Konkultura. Wymiary uczestnictwa w kulturze młodych imigrantów z Ukrainy w Polsce, Wydawnictwo Naukowe Scholar, Warszawa 2020; Markowska-Manista U.,

(2020): "Pedagogy"; "Janusz Korczak" In: D.T. Cook (Ed). The SAGE Encyclopedia of Children and Childhood Studies. London: Sage, DOI: <http://dx.doi.org/10.4135/9781529714388.n448>.

Janusz Mucha lives in Kraków. He collaborates with migrants organizations in this city and with the municipal project "Open Kraków". We teaches at the University of Białystok. See also <januszmucha.pl>.

Tomasz Padło, PhD, Pedagogical University of Cracow, Institute of Geography, Department of Geography of Urban and Rural Areas. His fields of interest focus on the perception of geographical space, geography of boundaries, including relic borders, human geography of Central Europe and documentary photography. Co-founder of the Bezgranica Foundation involved in the promotion of knowledge through visual arts. Website: www.tomaszpadlo.com

Nina Pielacińska, PhD. Literary scholar in the Institute of Literature and New Media at the University of Szczecin. Her research is concerned with Spanish and Portuguese culture and literature and their reception in Poland, and also with the Polish community in Argentina, particularly in Buenos Aires. She published two monographs – Fenomen fado na przykładzie Polski (Szczecin 2018), and, with Adrianna Seniów, Argentyna w prozie wspomnieniowej Józefy Radzymińskiej. Perspektywa językowo-kulturowa (Szczecin 2020).

Marta Jadwiga Pietrusińska is a sociologist and pedagogue, who specialises in migration, interculturalism and civic education. Her main academic research areas focus on issues related with social and cultural minorities, as well as the use of adult civic education in the integration processes of minority and majority groups. She works at the Faculty of Education, University of Warsaw and at the same time at the Faculty of Sociology at the same university. In 2013/2014 she was a research fellow at the Center for Applied Social Research, Bradford University UK. Her latest publications are: Jawor A., Markowska-Manista U., Pietrusińska J. M., Konkultura. Wymiary uczestnictwa w kulturze młodych imigrantów z Ukrainy w Polsce, Wydawnictwo Naukowe Scholar, Warszawa 2020; Pietrusińska M. J. (2020), Reprezentacje uchodźców w polskiej literaturze dziecięcej – przykład dyskursu prouchodźczego, „Studia Migracyjne – Przegląd Polonijny”, 1 (175), s. 47–66. DOI: 10.4467/25444972SMPP.20.003.11794; Naumiuk A., Pietrusińska M. (2019) Podmiotowość, wspólnota, lokalność – koncepcja settlementów a współczesne programy integrujące społeczności lokalnych i migrantów. „Kultura i Edukacja”, 2019/1(123), s. 175–196.

Dorota Prasałowicz is professor of sociology and Chair of Migration and Ethnic Studies at the Institute of American Studies and Polish Diaspora at the Jagiellonian University in Kraków. She has spent three years at the US universities, and three years at the German universities. Her field of studies include: international migration flows: past and present, migration experience in comparative perspective, cultural changes of local immigrant communities, immigration to North America, and ethnic relations in the US. Her recent research projects deal with (1) Polish immigration to the Pacific Northwest, and (2) East European immigration to the Low Countries (1933–1989).

Anna Rudek-Śmiechowska holds a PhD in humanities; she is an art historian, a publicist, and an exhibition curator. A graduate of the Institute of Art History at the John Paul II Catholic University of Lublin (2006); she was awarded a PhD from the Nicolaus Copernicus University in Toruń (2014). A scholar of the Kościuszko Foundation (2009) and the Minister of Culture and National Heritage (2018). She authored research papers and press articles, exhibition catalogs, as well as the first ever monograph on the renowned illustrator of American color magazines named

W.T. Benda (Władysław Teodor Benda. Życie i twórczość polsko-amerykańskiego ilustratora i twórcy masek, Universitas, Kraków 2016.) She is currently working on a book about the prestigious Polish-American Artists Society (PAAS) based in New York (1984–1991) and a monograph on Hanna Zawa Cywińska. Her research focuses on the Polish migrant art, primarily the United States of America and France.

Adrianna Seniów, linguist. Professor of University of Szczecin in the Institute of Linguistics. Her research includes linguistic stylistics, semantics of artistic texts, and lexicology. She is also interested in the Polish community in Argentina, particularly their literature and print media. Author of numerous periodical articles on linguistic phenomena in the Polish language past and present, monographs Językowa kreacja świata kobiet w wybranych powieściach Elizy Orzeszkowej (Szczecin 2010), and Słownictwo psychologiczne we współczesnej polszczyźnie (Szczecin 2017). She co-authored, with Nina Pielacińska, the book Argentyna w prozie wspomnieniowej Józefy Radzymińskiej. Perspektywa językowo-kulturowa (Szczecin 2020).

Katarzyna Winiecka, PhD – sociologist, assistant professor in the Department of Sociology of Culture in the Institute of Sociology at the University of Białystok, scientifically interested in the fate of Polish post-accession migrants and the process of social adaptation Kamila Ziółkowska-Weiss, PhD, Graduate of Culture studies at the Jagiellonian University and of Geography on the Pedagogical University in Krakow. She has graduated from postgraduate studies in international tourism management at the Cracow University of Economics. Since 2012 she has been a research worker, acting as an professor assistant in the department of Tourism and Regional Studies on the Pedagogical University in Kraków. An active tourist guide. Her main academic interests are in cultural tourism, ethnic groups and Polish minority in USA and Canada.