

Table of contents

Ewa Willim, Mateusz Urban
Editors' Preface	7

Part One. Theoretical and Experimental Syntax

Gurmeet Kaur, Louise Raynaud
3 rd Person Needs Licensing Too: Examining the se/suu Connection	11
M. Rita Manzini
The Agreement of Structural Obliques Parameter. Pseudopartitives, DOM and Partitive Articles in Romance	35
Franc Lanko Marušič, Petra Mišmaš, Rok Žaucer
Looking for Cognitive Foundations of Functional Sequences	53
Bożena Rozwadowska, Anna Bondaruk
Against the Psych Causative Alternation in Polish	77
Sławomir Zdziebko
The Semantics of still and the Modification of Polish Adnominal Participles	99

Part Two. Phonology and Phonetics

Tobias Scheer
Sonority Is Different	127

Barbara Vogt

- Evidence for the Relevance of Secondary Stress in German:
Prosodic Restrictions in Verbal Prefixation with ver- 153

Part Three. Semantics and Pragmatics

Mojmír Dočekal, Iveta Šafratová

- Pragmatic Licensing of Czech SuperStrong Negative Polarity Items:
An Experimental Study 171

Olga E. Pekelis

- Expletives in a Null Subject Language and Criteria for Expletiveness:
Evidence from Russian 189

Anna Szeteli, Mónika Dóla, Gábor Alberti

- Pragmasemantic Analysis of the Hungarian Inferential –
Evidential Expression szerint 207