

Authors

KATARZYNA ANDREJUK – Ph.D. Habil., Associate Professor at the Institute of Philosophy and Sociology, Polish Academy of Sciences. Sociologist and lawyer, interested in the migration studies with the focus on migrants' integration in the labor market, educational migrations, Europeanisation, qualitative methods. Visiting Scholar at the Migration Policy Centre, European University Institute (2018) and at the Herder-Institut, Marburg (2015). She published e.g. in the Journal of Ethnic and Migration Studies, Asian and Pacific Migration Journal, Studia Socjologiczne. Her most recent book is Przedsiębiorcy ukraińscy w Polsce. Struktura i sprawstwo w procesie osiedlenia, 2017 (Ukrainian entrepreneurs in Poland. Structure and agency in the settlement process).

JELENA DINIĆ, Ph.D. works as a Professional Studies Professor at the Higher Education School of Professional Studies of Criminology and Security where she teaches course of Methodology, as well as a researcher at the Centre for Empirical Cultural Studies of South-East Europe. Her main fields of interest are migration, brain drain, transnationalism, values and value orientations.

RUI GOMES has a Ph.D. in Education from the University of Lisbon. Currently, serve as Full Professor and Senior Researcher of the Centre for Social Studies of the University of Coimbra. His current research interests include themes of Sociology of Education (Academic mobility and brain Drain) and Sociology of Body (Body and new subjectivities) and the most recent publication is “MobiGrants: New Agents of Brain Drain in Portuguese Higher Education” in: Brain Drain in Higher Education: The Case of the Southern European Countries and Ireland (Nova Science Publishers, 2017).

KAMIL ŁUCZAJ is an Assistant Professor at the Faculty of Administration and Social Sciences, University of Information Technology and Management in Rzeszów, Poland. His research focuses on Migration Studies, Media Studies, Visual Sociology, and Sociological Theory. Currently, he is the PI of the project concerning biographies of foreign-born academics in Poland. He published, among others, in Advertising and Society Review, Sage Open, Central and Eastern European Migration Review, and Polish Sociological Review.

JANUSZ MUCHA, professor at the AGH University in Kraków, Poland, teaches sociology and socio-cultural anthropology. His research areas are: sociological theory, sociology in Central and Eastern Europe, critical theory, minority studies, ethnic studies, sociology and anthropology of migrations, highly skilled migration. See: <januzsmucha.eu>

MARIA NAWOJCZYK is associate professor at Department of Economic Sociology and Social Communication AGH University of Science and Technology, Kraków, Poland. Her research and teaching activity are concentrated on the fields: economic sociology, methodology and statistics, intercultural management, sociology of work, sociology of entrepreneurship, sociophysics as well as social and cultural aspects of new technologies. She is member of the Polish Sociological Association and European Sociological Association – she served as the Chair of Research Network of Economic Sociology ESA 2011-13, 2013-15.

MAGDALENA NOWICKA is Professor for Migration and Transnationalism at the Humboldt University in Berlin and Head of Department Integration at DeZIM e.V. (German Center for Integration and Migration Research). Her research and teaching activities are in the field of transnational migration in Europe, cosmopolitanism and conviviality, social inequalities, diversity, racism and qualitative research methods. She led the project „TRANSFORMIG. Transforming Migration – Transnational Transfer of Multicultural Habitus“ funded by the European Research Council Starting Grant Scheme (2013–2018) as well as various projects on Polish migration to Germany. She is member of the German Sociological Association, Council for Migration, diverse research networks, advisory boards of international journals (ex. Journal of Ethnic and Migration Studies, Advances in Research: Migration and Society), and she is alumna of the German Young Academy.

OLENA OLEKSIYENKO is a graduate student at the Graduate School for Social Research at the Institute of Philosophy and Sociology of the Polish Academy of Sciences. In 2013–2017 she worked as a research assistant at the Institute of Philosophy and Sociology of the Polish Academy of Sciences. She conducted interviews with migrants for research projects carried out by academic institutions and NGOs.

MAŁGORZATA PATOK, Ph.D. in Sociology (Sorbonne – Université Paris Descartes), political scientist (University of Gdańsk), graduate in European Union Law Studies (University of Warsaw); member of research team PHILÉPOL – Centre of Philosophy, Epistemology and Politics, Sorbonne – Université Paris Descartes; lecturer at the University of Sorbonne – Université Paris Descartes, University of Versailles Saint-Quentin-en-Yvelines and at Conservatoire national des arts et métiers in Paris. Research interests: European Union, Free Movement of Workers, Polish Worker, Migrations, Stereotypes, Integration at the workplace, Sociology of Organizations.

GREGOR SCHÄFER is a research associate at the University of Siegen, Department of Sociology. He is currently working in the project “Mobile transitions – mobile lifestyles? Career choices and way of living at the transition to transnational scientific careers in the European Union”. His research interests are the mobility and working conditions of academics, the nexus between social and spatial mobility and Europeanization/internationalization processes amongst academics.

ANNA SKRABA is a Ph.D. student in the Sociology Department at the Humboldt University in Berlin. She is currently writing a dissertation on the transnational social mobility of Polish migrant entrepreneurs in the Polish-German border region under the supervision of Prof. Dr Magdalena Nowicka. She is holding a bachelor degree in International Relations from Adam Mickiewicz University in Poznań, Poland and Master of Arts degree from European University Viadrina in Frankfurt (Oder), Germany. From October 2018 she is also scholarship holder from Hanns Seidel Foundation.

MARTA SONGIN-MOKRZAN, doctor of humanities in the field of ethnology, assistant professor in the Laboratory of Practical Anthropology at the Institute of Ethnology and Cultural Anthropology at the Faculty of Philosophy and History of the University of Łódź. Her research interests focus on anthropology of materiality, anthropology of technology, ethnography of production processes, philosophy and ontology of machines. The author of the book entitled Zwrot ku zaangażowaniu. Strategie konstruowania nowej tożsamości antropologii (2014).

LIDIA SYNOWIEC-JAJE is a graduate of Faculty of Humanities of AGH University of Science and Technology. Her scientific interests oscillate around sociology of religion, new technologies and entrepreneurship. She is trying to combine these areas in her dissertation written at AGH Kraków under the supervision of Prof. Maria Nawojczyk. She is the holder of Ph.D. scholarship from Polish-German Foundation (2017–2018).